WILD ALASKA POLLOCK

Tender and flaky, Wild Alaskan Pollock is the perfect complement to our breadings and batters.

Abundant & Impressive

Wild Alaskan Pollock is the most abundant fish species harvested in Alaska waters. Managed carefully by NOAA fisheries and certified sustainable, Alaska Pollock is an environmentally responsible seafood choice. Cousin to the codfish, its lean, snow-white meat, delicate texture and mild taste make it one of the most versatile and healthy choices available.

40%

Millennials expect restaurants to only serve sustainable seafood.

66%

US consumers say it's important that their food is produced sustainably.

94%

US consumers say they are more likely to order seafood when the word "Alaska" is used as a menu descriptor.

1959

The year sustainability was written into Alaska's state constitution—also the year Alaska became a state.

3-1

Consumers prefer wild seafood over farmed seafood by a ratio of 3-1.

2016

Alaska Seafood became the #1 protein brand on US menus—surpassing even certified Angus Beef.

THE JOURNEY

From whole fish caught by hard-working, independent fishermen in the icy Bering Sea waters of Alaska, our Wild Alaska Pollock is converted into fillets and blocks, frozen only once, then packaged and sent to our lower 48 plants in Washington and Georgia. This 'value added' processing is where our battered and breaded systems are incorporated before making their way to you and your consumers' plates.
